A hiking adventure, combining wilderness with comfort.

A five day adventure combining wilderness with comfort in the beautiful nature of Dalsland. You'll begin and end with comfortable accommodation and delicious food. In between, you'll hike from Upperud to Edsleskog, 46 km, on your own in a landscape with no roads. The route goes through hilly and varied natural environments, along lakes, and over mountains.

You'll start by checking in at Upperud 9:9, a modern and unique hotel with a hundred year old history as a grain silo. You'll eat a delicious dinner of locally produced ingredients and enjoy the view over Upperudshöljen. The rooms in the old silo are compact studios on two levels with four beds, a kitchen and a bathroom.

After a good night's sleep and a proper breakfast, you'll start your hike along Pilgrimsleden.

Three days of hiking await you, with two overnight stops outdoors. You'll make camp for the night at one of the route's organised campsites or in your own tent.

At the end of Pilgrimsleden you'll arrive at Edsleskog. There are ruins from a medieval church or cathedral here, which was dedicated to Saint Nicholas and built from bricks. Once you've checked in at Edsleskogs Vårdshus, a tasty dinner and a warm bed will be waiting for you. The guesthouse is situated in a beautiful location by the Edslan lake, surrounded by mountains and impressive views. The rooms have beautiful balconies with views over the lake. After breakfast the following day, you'll be driven back to Upperud 9:9.
