'Pleasure canoeing' between unique lodgings.

Unwind in the untouched nature of Dalsland. Treat yourself to four days with accommodation and canoeing between the natural luxury of hermit's cabin and a designer hotel in a disused silo. You're invited to spend gorgeous evenings in a beautiful hermit's cabin, ramble through a nature reserve, take a canoe trip on clear, calm lakes, to eat tasty food and relax in a silo. Relaxation Dalsland style, to put it simply.

Stay somewhere unusual, close to nature and yet luxurious at Swedish Country Living's farm, where the hermit's cabin awaits your arrival. Over two days you'll enjoy big farm breakfasts, excursions and canoe trips. Eat dinner on the jetty by the little boathouse and fall asleep by the fireside in the evening.

On day three you'll canoe along to the nearby Upperud 9:9, taking a packed lunch with you. When you reach dry land at Upperud harbour, you'll see Upperud 9:9 towering above from the water. After checking in, you can reward yourself with delicious coffee and cakes or maybe a glass of bubbly by the jetty. After that, a wonderful dinner awaits you, prepared with homegrown and locally produced seasonal ingredients.
